H.J. BAKER ANNOUNCES HIRE OF NEW FORMULATION MANAGER IN ANIMAL HEALTH AND NUTRITION DIVISION

New hire will focus on managing product formulations

SHELTON, Conn., USA – (Sept. 7, 2016) – As a part of H.J. Baker’s ongoing efforts to provide its customers the best quality products possible, the company is pleased to announce that Dr. Malik Hashim will join the Technical Services team as the new Formulation Manager.

Hashim will be working to manage H.J. Baker’s feed formulations and continue to provide its customers with the consistent high product quality product for which the company is known. Additionally, he will assist in managing and supervising the company’s ongoing research studies and field trials of all products, in order to continually improve the products for customers.

“Malik has a strong background in poultry nutrition and having him come on board is a great opportunity for us to move forward with our product formulations,” said. Dr. Kip Karges, Director of Technical Services for Animal Health and Nutrition.

A recent graduate of Texas A&M University with a Ph.D. and Masters in Poultry Science, Hashim also received his Bachelors in Veterinary Medicine from Baghdad University. Hashim spent the last five years working as a Graduate Research and Teaching Assistant of Poultry Science at Texas A&M where he taught senior level poultry nutrition and feed formulation classes and worked on formulating diets to meet different nutrient requirements.

H.J. Baker is committed to adding value to the products and services it provides as a global manufacturer and supplier in the animal health and nutrition, crop performance and sulphur industries.
