H.J. Baker's Hosting Chinese Delegation from Beijing Xinhefeng Agrochemical Co.

Leading Chinese Agricultural Firm to meet with US Potato Growers

SHELTON, CT USA – (November 1, 2015) – International Agricultural firm, H.J. Baker, is hosting a delegation from Beijing Xinhefeng Agrochemicals Co., Ltd. (XHF), a leading distributor of agrochemicals, fertilizers and micro nutrients, in China. They will be visiting Idaho during the potato harvest to witness first-hand the benefits of using Tiger-Sul Sulphur Bentonite fertilizers to maximize crop yield and health.

Representatives from H.J. Baker, including agronomist Wesley Haun, and the U.S. Potato Growers Association will discuss the technical aspects of potato farming in the United States and how Tiger-Sul's fertilizer products provide Sulphur to the plant for optimal growth. The delegation visiting includes the most innovative and successful potato farmers in China.

Steve Langely, Director of International Sales, at H.J. Baker said: "XHF is one of our top distributors for our T90CR Sulphur Bentonite fertilizer and T-Zinc micronutrient in China. They are focused on Northern China potato farmers and use our products to significantly lower soil pH levels. Their visit is an excellent opportunity to see how farmers who have used our Tiger-Sul products have increased crop yields. We are also able to share best practices in potato farming which benefits everyone. As we continue to expand our presence in China it is vital that we develop strategic partnerships with companies such XHF so that we can educate more farmers about the benefits of Tiger-Sul products shipped from our production plant in Lianyungang, China."
